If submitted, the form would send the Fake Standard Chartered email to http://janssen-recycling.info/wp-includes/images/pud.php where Standard data а Chartered-branded webpage thanks the user for completing the update form.

Not surprisingly, Standard Chartered does not use the janssen-recycling.info domain, and any details entered are likely to be collected by criminals and misused. Janssen Recycling appears to be a recycling company in the Netherlands, that is probably entirely unaware of how their website is being misued.
